Manager Quote:

This is one of the most special teams I have ever been a part of. These guys show up every day ready to compete and get better, and the team chemistry is as good as it gets.

Every player, whether he is a starter, a platoon guy, or coming off the bench, comes to the field prepared to contribute. There are no egos, just ballplayers who care about winning and about each other. They are a very talented group, but more than anything, they play the game the right way and let their performance speak for itself. They represent the ideals of Catholic University with class, integrity, and the way they carry themselves on and off the field.
